AUSTRALIA 2015...NORTHERN TERRITORY CONCESSION & HUNT DETAILS

HUNTING AREA:

REGION: Walker River, Arnhemland CONCESSION SIZE: 4000 Square Miles TERRAIN: Generally flat.
HARVEST: We harvest just 25 Trophy bulls from this vast expanse of habitat...Barely scratching the surface of its potential.
COUNTRY: Australia PROVINCE/STATE: Northern Territory SEASON: May through October

HUNT DETAILS:

HUNT TITLE: Trophy Water buffalo Hunt
WEAPON—Bow, Rifle and Black Powder
HUNT METHOD: Track and Stalk, fair chase hunting in Australia's Outback wilderness.
ACTUAL HUNTING DAYS: 6 Days
ACCOMMODATIONS: We have a basic comfortable and well appointed lodge located right on the banks of the Walker River. A deck at the front of the lodge takes in a peaceful scenic view down the river. Enjoy the comfort and serenity this venue offers while taking a sundowner after a big day in the field. Your accommodations are safari style tents with full size beds (2 per tent), a flushing toilet facility is nearby, alongside a tiled shower recess with ample hot water. Enjoy a relaxing long hot shower- there are no water issues in this camp

Our outfitter has designed the camp to suit everybody in the family. It is however rudimentary compared to the plush accommodations on game ranches. Most people really enjoy their stay and the accommodations, however it would not suit some. If you are looking at making a booking, we will be frank about the suitability depending on your requirements.

HUNT DESCRIPTION: Hunting is conducted in Arnhemland, Northern Territory, one of the last great wilderness areas of Australia. It is prime water buffalo habitat; untouched and unspoiled by human activity. Our outfitter's concession comprises 4000 square miles of this wilderness area which offers a great variety of habitat and terrain. The eastern boundary has over 200 miles of untouched coastal land and tropical islands with several major rivers flowing into the Gulf of Carpentaria. The coastal areas have vast swamps and coastal jungle pockets often frequented by large buffalo bulls. The western boundary is bordered by escarpment ranges, rock crevasses and bluffs and is a favorite hiding place of the old digger boys. Many a record buffalo has been taken from these areas. There are over 8000 buffalo in this vast region, many inaccessible by conventional means. They roam in giant buffer zones devoid of human activity. It is from these areas that our large trophies come wandering into the hunting zone which we access by 4WD on rudimentary two-track roads.

This hunting concession is devoid of fences, there being no such boundaries for hundreds of miles beyond our concession. It is a vast wilderness area without human activity except a handful of the native aborigines living in a village on the coast. On the average hunt you will most likely see no- one, though from time to time some of the local aborigines may appear.
